VOICE OF 25,000 UAW MEMBERS

SEPTEMBER, 2023

LOCAL 724 Todd Collins, President

Hello Brothers and Sisters.

I hope you have all had an enjoyable summer whatever you chose to do. By the time you receive this, what I'm sure, is on every one of our members' minds is what will happen with the impending threat of a UAW strike at the Big Three. Will I be laid off? Will I still be able to work? What will happen to my benefits? How long will the potential strike last? While our members will 100% support our fellow Brothers and Sisters when, and if, a strike happens the impact of it will undoubtedly be different for the members who supply these big three plants. I understand that our members will have many questions and I encourage you to reach out to your respective elected leadership at your worksite. The Local will provide whatever information that is available to our members as we receive it. The Local will provide whatever resources that are available to our members that are impacted. Please contact the Local if you have any questions or concerns related to the status of the potential strike and your status as it relates to your job at your particular site. Your respective Leadership at your worksite will be working with the company to work through any potential issues related to the potential strike. I hope that if there is a strike that the impact on our members is minimal and our brothers and sisters get a fair and equitable agreement that provides job security for the members in the IPS sector as well.

In Solidarity,

Todd

LOCAL 4911 Muhammad Qawwee, President

Greetings my UAW Brothers and Sisters. Fall is among us and we are still experiencing summer like weather. As our brothers and sisters in our UAW family are possibly on the verge of a strike, let us keep in mind how those of us between contracts can support our fellow UAW members. Nobody wants to strike, but if we don't stand for something, we will fall for anything. Our members, most who have been working 7 days a week and double shifts, deserve to be compensated and taken care of with decent benefits and adequate time off to recharge and enjoy family time. I hear some in the community say they are asking too much. Well, they have no idea what it is like standing on a line for 8,10,12, 16 hours a day in sweltering heat, and barely given enough time to use the bathroom. I have toured a couple of plants and will never complain about what we do in the hospital compared to their workday. If you can give a little extra to the food pantries this month, donate anything you can to emergency agencies that help the unemployed and raise a hand (or two) to help someone in need. You never know when it could be you.

In Solidarity, Muhammad

LOCAL 602 Mike Huerta, President

I hope you all had a great Labor Day weekend and enjoyed the time off with family and friends. With summer behind us the UAW moves to our busy season... contract negotiations! During the next few weeks please check in on your UAW family. We are all anxious for the outcome of the negotiations and we can be very stressed so if you are able - drop a text, make a call or stop and visit each other just to make sure.

Unions are the last, best hope for working families to be able to demand fairness from giant multibillion dollar corporations. With the big three contracts all set to expire on September 14th it seems that public opinion is in our favor. A recent poll of registered voters conducted by the AFL-CIO suggests voters across the board strongly see labor unions as beneficial, needed now more than ever and yet harder to join. Support transcends partisan groups, with Republicans and independents supporting unions, and younger voters particularly likely to support them. An overwhelming majority supports unions and strikes, even majorities of Republicans and independents. Seven-in-ten (71%) approve of labor unions, while less than a fifth (19%) disapprove. Labor union approval transcends party—with 91% of Democrats, along with more than two-thirds (69%) of independents and half of Republicans (52%) approving.

Support for strikes further exceeds union approval. Three-fourths (75%) support "workers going on strike to negotiate for better wages, benefits, and working conditions" with nearly half (47%) strongly supporting doing so. Again, clear majorities of Democrats (93%), independents (73%), and Republicans (58%) support strikes. As far as the UAW; 75% of Americans sympathize more with the UAW than with the auto companies (19%) in their current negotiations.

It seems like the wind is at our back. In 2019, our community blessed us with a remarkable outpouring of support during our strike and I have already had dozens of calls asking how to help. Let's hope the Auto companies understand that our communities and America has our backs and they want us to be fairly compensated for our labor. Our active members are ready, our retirees are ready and should we go on strike our communities are ready.

LOCAL 652 Ben Frantz, President

Hello brothers and sisters. As I write this, I hope you and your family safely made it through the storms and life is settling back down for you all. As we look forward, we will celebrate Labor Day and then watch the clock wind down on our UAW and General Motors agreement. My hope for all of us still active is that the company applies common sense and under stands that we, the workers, are the most integral part of the process for them making a Billion plus dollars every month of the last four years. If they are willing to negotiate with our top negotiators, I do not doubt

we can get a strong agreement and avoid any work stoppage. My next biggest hope is that they are willing to respect the past work of our retirees and bargain for an improvement for all of you as well. But, as I have explained in the past, bargaining on behalf of retired workers is a permissive, not mandatory, topic of the collective bargaining process. With all that is looming in the near future, I decided to look back at our labor history. I was surprised that the first notable strike on record in America was in 1794. It was an organized work stoppage by a printers union. Their main issues were better wages and better work hours. As I kept reading, I read about many small strikes from 1794 until 1866, with similar goals to what we seek today. But, in 1866, the first national labor union was formed. The National Labor Union was born on August 20, 1866, in Baltimore; though it failed fairly quickly, the idea of multiple small Union Locals banding together to gain strength was sound. Today, many national labor unions, such as the UAW, wield tremendous power when the working class decides to unite. Having unity and showing solidarity are just a couple of reasons I am a proud union member and know I will always be. We have been through some stressful days here recently with the storms and are facing many stressful days to come. When the storms hit my community, I witnessed the people put aside all the fractional things that don't matter and band together to help one another get our community back to normal. As we enter what could potentially be the longest strike in automotive history, I will hold to that same ideal that when it truly matters, we as unionists will band together, lock arms, and remember what Walter Reuther said, "There is no power in the world that can stop the forward march of free men and women when they are joined in the solidarity of human brotherhood."

In closing, I have a couple of requests; please look at the gains banding together and embracing our similar goals can achieve for the working class. Also, please try and avoid the pitfalls of seeking to find fault in others, which robs us of solidarity and proves only to divide and restrict us from what we have earned and must be strong to gain. Stay united brothers and sisters and never forget, Solidarity Forever!

LOCAL 652 Lena Wyeth, Vice President

Picture this! I'm a new hire in the late 90s, vanpooling with a bunch of guys from Gratiot County, who at that time had over 20 years of seniority at GM. I never worked in a shop before and I was clueless! Yes, the van got a little loud and crazy on our way home from working 2nd shift. Whenever the plant had to shut down early due to a breakdown, you can bet that our vanpool stopped at the party store before we hit the highway back to Gratiot County. My go-to was always Mt Dew and a bag of chips. Larry Rhode was the owner and driver of the van. Doug Terwilliger and Denny Wolfgang were the main jokesters in the van and Eddie Fell was the quiet one. It was the popular vanpool to be in back in the day. Believe it or not, I learned the most from this group of guys. Whatever the boss tried to pull during the shift, was always talked about in that van. My fellow vanpoolers weren't committee men and never held an elected position, but they sure knew the contract. I heard a lot of, "Oh no, they can't do that" and "You make a committee call tomorrow". Back then, contract knowledge was passed on from worker to worker, we didn't have social media and most didn't even have cell phones. The point is, that contract education was talked about all the time. Most people knew the contract, and that was very valuable. I was lucky when I was hired because most of my co-workers working beside and around me were high seniority and they taught me "plant life". The information and history that high seniority knew was passed on to the next generation and that was key. That men do not learn very much from the lessons of history is the most important of all the lessons of history. -Aldous Huxley

I think it is essential to pass on information to the next generation. This is why I contacted a UAW archivist from the Walter Reuther Library at Wayne State University. He said they don't have much information on Local 652 and would like to come to the hall to start tagging information that he would like to have at the Walter Reuther library. We have so much history at Local 652 and it would be a shame if the story was left untold. Once it is at the library, Local 652 history will live on and can be studied by generations to come. The UAW Archivist is considering making a video, so more news to come on that. Some of you just might get a phone call from me, asking if you would give a recorded interview. If this is something you are willing to share, give me a call at the union hall. As always, it is my honor and pleasure to serve as Local 652 Vice President. If there is anything I can do to help, please don't hesitate to call.

LOCAL 602
Isaiah Fuller,

"The UAW And the Middle Class Must Thrive!"

Our society has succumbed to a life that places the American dream in a china cabinet, in a room, in the house that nobody goes in unless they have company or its election time. We say we want change but what we need to change ourselves and start by putting the future of the working middle class citizen first. Our founders had a similar battle ahead of them and learned they had to stick together for it to get better for us all. The purpose of a union is to fight for things to get better and to ensure that those coming after you don't have to go through the same as those before them.

As time has gone on from our past and where we came from corporations and those who have wealth and are unwilling to share with those who have none; and have silently won wars using their wealth to write laws and put people in places where they could control and know they would ensure that the working class Americans would have to fight to get anything; but yet still be able to gain no ground to keep up with the rest of America.

The purpose for the American union has not changed, it's us who have been led astray and become complacent and turned on our own brothers and sisters.

We've been made to individualize so much that we have even helped politicians into office that may agree with our individual needs but in the long run affect our wallets and our families' futures by their own greed.

There was a time where this country was booming and those who were in working families reaped the benefits of it, but then we allowed greed to come in and influence our government and our so-called leaders. Corporate American used money and other tactics to influence us to push for and or vote on laws that have come to haunt our existence.

For the longest our unions and middle-class Americans have been just surviving and being kept quite due to being given a little here and there just to make us happy and so that we exist. But are we really meant to be subservient to the wealthy corporations in this country in order to insure they stay on top and control what we can and cannot do?

I was told once that one of the greatness powers a man can have over another is when he can dictate how much money you make and what kind of lifestyle you can have. I'm not calling for a revolt or a revolution; but we as working citizens must wake up and start wanting to thrive and to prosper, develop, and grow and build for those who are in our families and communities that we care about; and for those who are in the working middle class families that we care about.

We have been put in a place blindly because of the wealthy not having empathy for their fellow man and filtering that into our heads to be the same way. I'm not saying give us hand outs and free stuff. I'm saying we have stop fighting amongst ourselves in society and in our unions to get anything done. We must not only educate ourselves but our families and our communities and show them that we can make a difference and make the American dream true for everyone and not those who just happen to stumble into wealth and only want to keep it for themselves.

As a country we can set aside billions of dollars to fund wars but when vets get homeless; we can't fund programs to the point that they are successful and making sure no vet is homeless. Or make sure that no matter what, those who have retired don't have to worry whether they will lose their healthcare benefits.

We say we want better and want change, but we aren't willing to do what it takes to get where we should be. Corporate America has done its best to keep us to the point where we must trade time for money just to survive so we feel like we are getting somewhere but the only thing we are getting is left behind; and our families suffer because we must do it just to survive. Our kids suffer, and our communities suffer all for corporate greed.

I'm tired of just surviving and being a pawn for corporate America to get wealthy from. It's time we do what's needed to get where the working class should be. It's time we stand up and say we want to thrive. We must Thrive for America to have a future!

Hello UAW!

The UAW healthcare sector, Local 4911, extends it's support and faith to our big three brothers and sisters during these historic contract negotiatons. The UAW has grown over the years and know that UAW members, from across our great country, from all sectors, is strong and optimistic for a good contract.

Summertime is fading fast, and Fall/Winter will be here even faster!

This past year was a very HOT summer and I sure hope you enjoyed it to its fullest, as best as you could while staying safe. For all our fall and winter enthusiasts, your season is approaching fast! Here are some ideas to help plan for a fun cooler season for you and your family.

Please take some personal time for yourself and loved ones.

- 1. Go skiing. Michigan has famous downhill ski resorts which include Boyne Mountain Resort, Highlands Resort, Crystal Mountain and Cannonsburg (with a peak elevation of 6483 ft, it offers skiers and snowboarders a 3202 ft vertical drop), Porcupine Mountains Wilderness State Park not only offers alpine and Nordic skiing but ski-in winter cabins as well.
- 2. Cross-country skiing and snowshoeing. Check out Traverse City, UP's Noquemanon Trail Network for extensive cross-country skiing and snowshoeing trails.
- 3. Fat Tire Biking. Carve up the snow on these Michigan trails. Noquemanon Trail Network, Yankee Springs Recreation area, Waterloo Recreation Area.
- 4. Frozen Waterfalls! Michigan's Upper Peninsula waterfalls are beautiful in the wintertime. You can try your skills at ice climbing frozen waterfalls at Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore or nearby Munising for the Ice Fest.
- 5. Ice Golfing! Put a cold-weather spin on a warm-weather favorite at the Saint Ignace annual Ice Golf Scramble. Hint: you will see brightly colored balls on the frozen Lake Huron and glow-in-the-dark balls once the sun sets.

6. Ice Skating, Sledding, Snow Tubing, Mushing and so much more. The Double JJ Resort in west Michigan, the Double JJ offers a wide variety of winter activities: snowshoeing and dog mushing, horse-drawn sleigh rides cross -country skiing and show tubing hills.

May your contract negotiations have the best outcome and please try to enjoy the coming season changes and all Michigan has to offer.

Make those precious memories and always stay safe UAW brothers and sisters everywhere!

LOCAL 652 Matt Schneider, Fin. Secretary

Greetings, Union Family,

It has been a few months since our last edition of the Lansing Labor News, and I hope this one finds you well. No doubt as you are reading this summer is trying to rush right on by. Go ahead and grab hold of it and enjoy those last few summer nights. For many of us the end of August brought hardship and frustration with severe weather and multiple confirmed tornadoes throughout Michigan. I was able to escape any significant issues, apart from a decent case of poison ivy rash after cleaning up a couple fallen trees. For those readers who were affected more severely, I hope the path to normalcy is a quick one.

As I pondered the question of what to write for this edition, a recent UAW conference gave me the inspiration. While the readers of the LLN all share the UAW as a common thread, we work in many different sectors. For some of us, we will head into fall with expiring contracts and active bargaining sessions. This is the perfect opportunity to review the new strike assistance program the International Strike Department rolled out during the conference.

By now most members should be aware of the increases made to the weekly assistance amount, but the method of paying that benefit is new. In an effort to keep dues dollars secure, the UAW utilizes many accounting practices that may appear obsolete to its members. Cash based accounting and paper checks are some examples. The pay portion of our strike assistance has traditionally been paid by check, with a cumbersome tracking process occurring in the background. The Strike and Accounting Department, under the leadership of UAW Secretary-Treasurer, Margaret Mock, has introduced a new electronic process for paying out strike pay to striking members. The new process was put in practice during the strike against Clarios this spring. With many contracts set to expire, including at the UAW-GM worksites here in Lansing, it is important we prepare for this new process.

In the event of a strike against your worksite most of the strike assistance process will be the same as in the past. The most notable change comes with ACH, or direct deposit of the pay portion of your strike assistance. After a strike is called, members will be instructed to register for their strike assistance, and this is where the changes will become noticeable. Much of the traditional paperwork has been replaced with an electronic strike assistance portal. Members should be prepared for this process by having an active email account, bringing bank account and routing numbers, and a fully charged smart phone. In addition, medical information, dependent information, and SSN's will be needed to complete your benefit coverage. If you do not use a traditional bank, pay cards and apps still have routing and account numbers associated with them. Members without smartphones may consider bringing a helper with them, depending on hall capacity. At registration the member will scan a unique QR code or enter the site URL, they will then receive an email to create a membership file within the strike assistance portal. Members will need to create a username and password to access their file in the portal, so plan a method to memorize those.

Once your profile is complete, the information will be processed electronically. The Financial Secretary of the local will confirm members against the local membership list as well as strike duty cards or sign-in sheets. These actions will allow the distribution of funds via direct deposit. I am hopeful this will be an improved and seamless process for the membership. As with life, nothing is without glitches, but in addition to the Strike Assistance Helpline, we have our fellow members here to help us through.

LOCAL 1753 Laura Clark Retiree

Greeting Sisters and Brothers and friends

It's great to be writing to you again. I've missed visiting with you the last two meetings. I think at this age we all understand how health issues can derail your direction, and get you off track. With any luck I will see you at our next meeting and lunch in September on the 14th, and maybe more importantly, October 12th meeting and lunch. Many are interested in the benefit meeting, though I think there will be more of the same coverage and possibly some added good news. Both of these meetings, are planned to be at Buffet World and Grill at 12:00 noon. We are hoping for more folks to come to the Christmas party, planned for December 9th at the hall. I would be open to any of your ideas, interests and thoughts on these meetings if you care to share. As you know the answering machine is on, call 484-0507.

September 14th, our next meeting, is an important date in history, and probably in our future. This is the day the active members get ready to walk out, if we get no contract settlement. This was one of the topics at the last active meeting. I was asked what the retirees were going to do about the strike. I told them how I myself tried to help during the last strike. I liked to bringing lunch to workers at both gates once a week while I was here. And the help I had with that was from Eagle Monk Brewery just down the road. They matched each pizza I bought with one from themselves. I was very impressed, and I hope you are also and will remember them when out and about. On the bigger questions, the retirees have given workers the game plan. This includes winning respect from the management, shorter work days, safe work space, no child labor and benefits. Our generation scrimped and saved to pay off our hall. During the last strike, our 1753 retirees bought every active worker a red

Local 1753 shirt to support the Wednesday turn out. We lent our popup tent and grill as well. The retired workers are always supportive and stand behind the active workers. What can you do?

LOCAL 602 Marta Bobillo Retiree

Greetings Sisters and Brothers,

I hope everyone is doing well! We had our second annual retirees picnic and what an awesome turn out we had. We were able to share food, stories, information, played bingo and raffles.

I would also like to thank Sam, Paul, Randy, and Mike, our grillers that did an amazing job. A huge thank you to all the ladies that helped prepare & serve the salads it all was great teamwork. Thank you much to our President Mike Huerta for attending and bringing the fruit basket, and last but not
